Dead body not treated as 'suspicious' by officers

POLICE have said they are not treating the discovery of a body this week as suspicious.

Officers were called to the recreation ground close to the junction of Stockingstone Road and New Bedford Road at around 3pm on Tuesday after a member of the public reported seeing a man in a wooded area.

The ambulance service attended but were unable to revive the man who was pronounced dead a short while afterwards.

Bedfordshire Police cordoned off the area while forensic teams carried out a search. House-to-house inquiries also took place.

Detective Chief Inspector Jon Hutchinson, from the Major Crime Unit, said: "We are currently in the process of establishing exactly what happened to this individual, how he came to be at this location and how long he has been here."

"We are currently treating this as an unexplained death. I would urge anyone who may have any information to come forward and speak with the police in complete confidence, or alternatively, they can speak to members of the independent charity Crimestoppers, completely anonymously, on 0800 555 111."

The force has referred the case to the coroner.

Anyone with information relating to this case can contact the police on 101.

Travellers action call

BY CARL MUNGAZI

carl.mungazi@lutononsunday.co.uk

AUTHORITIES in the town have vowed to work more closely together to tackle residents' concerns about illegal traveller encampments.

During a vociferous meeting on Monday, councillors discussed the experiences of home owners in areas where travellers have turned up.

They spoke of human waste being found in playing fields and criminal damage to property.

Councillor Peter Chapman, who was representing Wigmore residents, said: "People were effectively trapped in their homes, not able to go out because they were so intimidated. There was serious damage to the area."

He also spoke of a recent lengthy eviction process, which saw travellers in Colwell Rise move round the corner to Hedley Rise, meaning the whole process had to start again.

This week Luton council said it had spent £23,100 to date on evictions and legal fees.

After the meeting a resident who lives in Wigmore said: "The real issue is the approach from the council and the police."

"The council seems to be unable to move them on quickly when other areas can and the residents have not had support from the police."

"The Police and Crime Commissioner (PCC) has asked residents to send in

Tell us what you think at www.luton-dunstable.co.uk

their concerns but when we do the police just log it.

"And when they do turn up they can't do much because they can't prove who did it."

PCC Olly Martins said: "I think part of the problem is that both the police and the council have gone through a lot of changes in the past few years and there's been a bit of a loss of institutional knowledge."

"That's why I am keen to have these two organisations working together so that we get better outcomes."

"As I said earlier this week if you look at how we have now got a grip on the High Town sex trade and gun crime, the progress has happened because different organisations have sat around a table and spoken about this. That's how you serve the people of Luton best."

A council spokeswoman said: "Residents have made it clear they expect a more effective response to the traveller encampments in Luton and we look forward to discussing with the police how this can be achieved through an enhanced partnership working approach."

Bedfordshire Police said it was 'committed to working very closely with Luton Borough Council to tackle the issues that surround travellers'.

Town has most fined street in the county

BY CARL MUNGAZI
carl.mungazi@lutononsunday.co.uk

A STREET in Luton has generated more revenue from parking fines than anywhere else in Bedfordshire, it has been revealed.

Figures from Freedom of Information requests to Luton, Bedford and Central Bedfordshire councils show that Chapel Street is the most ticketed after £122,780 was paid by motorists between April 2011 and March 2013.

The second was Riverside Square car park in Bedford, which brought in £111,781 for Bedford council.

Other high earners were St Paul's Square in Bedford on £70,521 and George Street in Luton on £59,325.

The revelations come in the same week a study by the RAC Foundation showed that in 2011-12 English councils had a total current account surplus of £565million from on and off street parking operations.

Luton council had a surplus of £687,000, a decrease of more than £160,000 from last year's total of £847,000.

Professor Stephen Glaister, director of the foundation, said 'profits gained from on street charges and penalties must be ploughed back into a very limited number of things including maintaining the roads'.

Last month Councillor Dave Taylor said the high number of fines in Chapel Street was due to CCTV cameras that had been installed following complaints from businesses in the road about cars blocking entrances.

A council spokesman also said the income was 'ring fenced for traffic improvement projects'.

But at the time of going to press the authority was unable to provide details of how it had spent the money gained from parking tickets.

The council said: "The main role of Luton's parking service is to ensure that the parking measures introduced are complied with, ensuring the safety of residents and road users in the borough and maintaining traffic flow.

"None of the staff are incentivised by targets or performance related pay.

"Luton does receive income from its parking operation, but the parking account is ring-fenced to contribute to the provision of on and off-road parking for residents, shoppers, businesses and others."

Student picked as influential disabled person

A FORMER Luton Sixth Form College student has featured on an index of the most influential disabled people in the UK.

Paul Carter, 33, runs his own media production company, Little Man Media.

He is on The List, which has been put together by the Disability News Service (DNS).

More than 200 names feature in the rankings, established by DNS to highlight the positive impact disabled people have in the country.

They include Baroness Tanni Grey-Thompson, Professor Stephen Hawking, Stephen Fry, David Blunkett MP and David Weir.

Paul, who has no lower arms or legs, attended the college between 1996 and 1998.

He said: "I was hugely proud, if a little humbled and slightly embarrassed, to feature on The List.

"It's such a huge privilege and very humbling to be listed among people who have achieved so much, not only in their own lives but have done lots to further the lives of other people too."

Paul said it was 'hugely flattering' to be thought of as being influential

Jordan Lewis Doyle, of Kimberley Close, has been remanded in custody after appearing at Reading Crown Court on Thursday for the murder of 24-year-old Sean Noctor. He was arrested following an altercation between a group of men in Barry Avenue at 3.09am on July 29.

Doyle will return to Reading Crown Court on October 21 for a plea hearing along with another man from Leighton Buzzard charged with the murder of Mr Noctor.

A provisional trial date has been set for January 13 next year.

GLIDERS GRADUATE AT DOWNS

DUNSTABLE Downs played host to a graduation this week as eight students from London finished their course.

The pupils, from the Skinners' Academy in Hackney, were there as their intensive two-week gliding course at the London Gliding Club, which is based in Dunstable, came to an end.

It was hosted by aircraft manufacturer Boeing and the Air League.

Last weekend the Downs welcomed the International Dunstable Kite Festival, which was attended by more than a 1,000 people.

POLICE WANT CHARITY BOX THIEF

OFFICERS have said they are looking for a man who stole a charity tin from a pizza takeaway earlier this month.

The suspect entered Domino's Pizza in New Bedford Road at 1.30am on July 9 and ordered some food.

He then said he was going to wait outside but when a staff member moved away from the counter, he ran back in, snatched the tin and fled.

Bedfordshire Police have said the suspect is an Asian male, in his mid-30s, of average build, wearing a white t-shirt with Osaka 6 written in red on the front, khaki trousers, dark trainers and carrying a jacket.

Anyone with details of the theft can contact the police on 101.

Hospital is critical of patient ward survey

BY CARL MUNGAZI
carl.mungazi@lutononsunday.co.uk

THE town's hospital has said a patient survey slamming one of its wards is 'disappointing'.

The flagship Friends and Family Test, designed to promote greater transparency in the NHS, revealed patients would not recommend Ward 5 at Luton & Dunstable Hospital.

But the hospital has questioned the validity of the results, which were based on only four responses.

The survey, which looked at 4,500 wards and 144 A&E departments, was published this week. It listed 36 wards which had failed the test.

However, some had only one response and the survey has come under criticism from various quarters.

A spokesperson for the hospital said: "At Luton and Dunstable University Hospital, from a survey of over a 1,000 patients, 95 per cent said they are extremely likely or likely to recommend this hospital to their friends and family."

"This week we have been disappointed with the publication of the Friends and Family Test results for Ward 5. The result was based on only four responses."

There was a mixed reaction to the survey from our readers online.

Helene Evans said: "From my experience of the L&D, the maternity element is all excellent. SCBU staff were brilliant and looked after my baby (born @34 wks, 1.3kgs) amazingly well and supported me too. Ward 32 staff were great too."

But Gemma McCann, whose relative stayed at the hospital for a year, said she would not recommend Ward 5. She added: "I would be worried if anyone I knew was going into this ward because of the standard of care that they would get."

"I think to change it they obviously need more doctors and nurses, but also people who go into the job that actually care."

Carly Hattle, who visited the maternity ward during her pregnancy, said she would be hesitant to refer other pregnant women to the hospital.

She said: "I would say they should leave it as late as possible to go there because they bung you up in a room and don't come to check up on you."

Husband finds wife dead on table

A WOMAN was found dead by her husband at their home after consuming a deadly combination of prescription medicines, an inquest has heard.

Ikbal Church, 35, of Farley Lodge, Ruthin Close, Luton, was discovered by her husband Christopher slumped over a coffee table at their home on March 1 this year.

Mr Church, a mechanic, had fallen asleep in a chair at around 7.30pm and at the time his wife was sitting on the sofa.

When he woke he found she was not breathing. He tried to give her CPR and called an ambulance but she was confirmed dead at the scene shortly afterwards.

Mrs Church, an estate agent who went by the name of Natasha, had taken a bottle of Oramorph given to her husband on prescription after having already taken a depressant similar to morphine earlier that night. Her cause of death was found to be drug intoxication. There was no evidence she had suffered any injury or that another person was involved in her death.

Coroner David Morris recorded a verdict of misadventure during a hearing at Dunstable Coroner's Court on Tuesday as he was satisfied she did not intend to take her own life.

PC denies raping woman at house

BY JULIA SUTTON
editor@lutononsunday.co.uk

A POLICEMAN accused of raping a 'vulnerable' woman at her father's house has told a jury his alleged victim had tried to seduce him.

Adesoji Afolabi, 30, from Charlwood Road, Luton, denies rape and assault by penetration and claims the 22-year-old woman – who cannot be named for legal reasons – asked him to have sex with her.

She had been arrested by Afolabi the day before in South Mimms after breaking windows at her mother's house and the Hertfordshire Police officer had driven her back to her father's address in Harlow after she spent a night in the cells.

The prosecution allege he then returned the following day on the pretence of checking on her welfare before raping and sexually assaulting her.

But on Friday Afolabi told Chelmsford Crown Court that the woman – who has been described in court as 'an alcoholic who is mentally vulnerable' – had tried to seduce him by rubbing his groin.

He admitted that he then began 'rubbing her', adding that she had then fallen on a sofa and he had 'landed on top of her'.

See updates on this story at
www.luton-dunstable.co.uk

In the cross examination Afolabi said he had felt 'sorry for her' after she was arrested. He told the jury: "I felt like I wanted to hug her goodbye."

He denied that he 'engineered' seeing her to have sex with her but admitted he spent 15-and-a-half minutes talking to her on the phone 'about general stuff of the day'.

He added: "I did want to help her – I offered to take her to the doctors agreeing to drive to Harlow to pick her up and drive her to her GP at Potters Bar before returning her to Harlow."

Afolabi's girlfriend, hospital worker Nicola Patey, 27, also gave evidence.

She told the court he became her boyfriend after they met at a hospital while he was in uniform and they were both working.

The deputy sister, who works at Peterborough Hospital's A&E department, said: "I've known him for just over two years – we're boyfriend and girlfriend. He's quiet, shy, calm, friendly and caring and never aggressive or violent."

"He'll do anything – above and beyond – for anyone. He's 100 per cent loyal and trustworthy."

The hearing is set to continue tomorrow.

Resort building underway

A NEW family holiday resort being built in Bedfordshire has passed the half way mark.

The £250million Center Parcs site at Woburn Forest – the fifth in the UK – is in its 62nd week out of a 97-week construction plan, with many of the 625 lodges close to completion.

Center Parcs bosses are hoping to take on 1,500 staff to run the park, the majority of which they say are going to be locally based.

CEO of Center Parcs, Martin Dalby, said: "We have already hired 32 people so far and 70 per cent of them live within 10 miles of the site and we'll provide transport for staff, which in this area where there are many rural villages, will be a massive bonus."

"In January all of the intensive training for staff will begin but we will start recruiting the main numbers of staff in autumn."

Cops clamp down on kerb-crawlers

BY JULIA SUTTON
editor@lutononsunday.co.uk

TWO men have been charged with kerb crawling offences following a police operation aimed at tackling prostitution in High Town.

Adamyat Ali, 25, of Seymour Road, Luton, and Luigi Lorillo, 44, of London Road, Luton, have both been charged with soliciting another person for the purpose of obtaining their sexual services as a prostitute in a street or public place, contrary to section 51a of the sexual offences act 2003.

Ali is set to appear at Luton Magistrates' Court on August 19, while Lorillo is due to appear at the same court on August 28.

The charges are part of the on-going multi-agency work within High Town, code-named Operation Turtle.

They come more than three weeks after Bedfordshire Police and Luton council announced a plan to get rid of vice in the area by 2018.

Since January 201 people have been dealt with by police, 151 of which for kerb crawling offences and 71 have been arrested, not only for kerb crawling, but for illegal drug activity, outstanding warrants, being over the prescribed limit and burglary.

Chief Supt Mark Turner said: "Our strategy seeks to take a strong line on those who frequent locations in order to buy sex."

"This will have a significant detrimental impact on all involved and cannot be tolerated."

Wardens to stay and homes made better

BY CARL MUNGAZI

carl.mungazi@lutononsunday.co.uk

RESIDENTS at sheltered housing schemes in the town will not be losing their wardens after the council decided to keep them.

During a meeting on Monday, councillors at Luton Borough Council also voted to improve its sheltered housing service as part of a review into the scheme.

Earlier this year residents from Bethune Court in Farley Hill contacted Luton on Sunday with concerns over plans to replace their on-site manager with office-based staff.

But the council has said its 90-day consultation on the future of the service revealed the wardens were 'highly valued by tenants' and as a result, were being offered the opportunity to remain in their posts.

In addition, it said it would be introducing neighbourhood scheme manager teams to housing sites that currently have no on-site managers.

The authority also agreed to invest in a programme of work to improve the condition and security of Luton's

Care home residents at Bethune Court had vowed to 'put up a fight' if the council had opted to replace their on-site managers sheltered housing scheme and modernise communal lounges.

Regular surgeries will be held at all 22 sheltered schemes so tenants can have the opportunity to speak face to face with managers to get the support they might need.

Councillor Tom Shaw, portfolio holder for housing, said: "The reason we have sheltered housing schemes is to ensure older people can lead healthy, active and independent lives.

"We therefore really appreciate all of the feedback we received from tenants during the consultation, which has helped us shape the future of this vitally important service.

"By telling us what is important to them, we have been able to come up with a positive solution, which ensures tenants can have access to the right support when and where they need it."

Keep Sundon Park clean

SIR – Councillor Syd Knight's intervention on the escalating problem of litter along Sundon Park parade is a welcome one.

Somebody needs to take ownership of this issue and I congratulate Cllr Knight for doing something about it.

Sundon Park is a wonderful community and we want it to stay that way. Let us not spoil the area by having it strewn with refuse.

We should all get behind our local councillor's effort in order to keep our streets clean.

Give new busway a chance

SIR – Although the much-awaited busway is about to open for business, the deniers can't resist banging on about it!

In the latest letter, Robin Kedge makes wild claims that 'the majority of Luton residents' don't want it; just like others who always use the mantra 'the busway nobody wants'.

What nobody has done is to provide any hard evidence to support either of these statements.

I suspect that, like me, most people in Luton and Dunstable haven't a view either way, but are prepared to wait until it has been running for a few months and then decide whether it has all been worth it.

There were similar accusations about the Cambridge busway, but after a year it has

The computer knows best

SIR – Pam Reid (LoS 21/7/13) and Robin Kedge (LoS 28/7/13), together with all those unfortunate enough to have to drive on Luton thoroughfares, must realise that narrowing roads and approaches to roundabouts is a traffic calming measure and therefore for our own good.

That it results in frustration and fury is an unfortunate side effect. Rarely does Luton Borough Council highways introduce speeding-up measures, such as blocking the right hand turn into Cromwell Hill from north-bound New Bedford Road.

That North High Town folk are now forced into the chaos of Hucklesby Way is just another unfortunate side effect to be born resolutely by those just seeking to get home.

The recent traffic calming measure directing all traffic, apart from vehicles going round in circles, into the single left-hand lane of Hucklesby Way just adds to their challenge.

The message seems to be that we should all take to two wheels and utilise our exclusive, expensive and increasingly extensive network of cycle lanes though, as revenue would reduce considerably, this does seem a somewhat short-sighted objective.

However, highways and its computer always know best.

been judged a great success.

A friend who uses it regularly describes it as wonderful!

Why not just wait and see?

Unhappy with libraries closure

SIR – I am absolutely disgusted that this council is closing libraries, especially the mobile library, which is a God send to so many people. The staff are outstanding.

The councillors have cars, meet people everyday and probably have lively social lives.

The mobile library is not just a library, it's a social meeting place, where people can use computers, an information point and a library.

I know cuts have to be made, but maybe the council should stop spending money promoting itself and spending our money on a busway that no-one wants or needs.

Just increase the 24 bus service and maybe hold an inquiry as to why the busway is going ahead. I think then everyone would be happy! Or put on pop concerts that people don't want or go to.

You cannot promote a town until the town is worth being promoted. Luton has too many issues at the moment so stop throwing good money after bad. Put the money into the libraries.

Surely sense says that if you do close libraries then send the mobile library to the places that you close.

The mobile service is paid for anyway until next March, so whatever the council's decision I expect no changes until then.

One last point – please do not moan that it is not your fault, that it's down to the Government.

It is your fault – Labour nearly bankrupted this country. The poor working class people that you are meant to represent are now suffering, as will our children's reading and education.

The long arm of the law

SIR – I write this letter in response to a story in last week's Luton on Sunday about the 'This and That' police shop.

It was a clever bit of police work but I must admit I was surprised to find on the list of those arrested one of history's most (in)famous people.

A good example of the (very) long arm of the law, eh?

Making it up as you go

THERE are lies, damned lies and statistics. Or so the old adage goes. And, so far as Government statistics goes, it seems to be true.

One recent example is UK migration figures.

The Government has made a big deal about cutting net immigration figures into this country, tapping into, and fuelling, the xenophobia that exists in our society.

Yet it has been pointed out that the figures produced on immigration and emigration are just guesses. People are not counted out and they are not counted in. Instead the International Passenger Survey is used, which is based on random interviews with travellers arriving and leaving at ports and airports.

Of course, while the figures are just guesswork, what it does enable the Government to do, is make them up to suit its latest policy. So immigration is going down! Hurray cry the xenophobes.

Another Government success story and one in the eye for UKIP. How do you know, someone might ask. We made it up, would be the truthful answer.

As well as actually knowing the numbers, it might be useful to find out who is leaving and who is arriving, in terms of education and training, but that's obviously asking a bit much.

And if this is true of migration, how much can we trust the other statistics poured out by the Government?

Crime figures are down but that is not that crime is down but because the police are not charging so many.

If the information we are being given is not accurate, then the policies built on it will likely be wrong.

And we won't know, at least for a few years, when we fail to understand why it is all going so badly wrong.

What we need are more statistics, better statistics and independent statistics. But that would not suit the Government.

Which brings into question another adage by former American President, Abraham Lincoln.

He said: 'You can fool some of the people all of the time, and all of the people some of the time, but you cannot fool all of the people all of the time.'

Perhaps this Government hopes to prove him wrong.

Dropping history from the curriculum will have academics shaking their heads in sorrow.

But this is what one upper school in the county is planning in order to improve its Ofsted scores. It's all about ratings, not education.

Headteachers are becoming CEOs, running their teaching factories and concerned only with figures.

And of course those who can't keep up are said to have Special Educational Needs, so they are put to one side, while the school gets extra cash for so doing.

And this is not a small number, as one in four boys (if you can believe the figures, see above) are so labelled.

School used to be fun. Now it is not only a factory, but one of fear, where kids are told this is their only chance to become a success in life.

Be warned, there are only two things certain in life: death and taxes.

So enjoy it while you can.

Taxi firms under fire from drivers

BY CARL MUNGAZI

carl.mungazi@lutononsunday.co.uk

TAXI drivers accusing senior managers of 'mistreatment' have been staging a strike this week.

The workers say they have been asked by Spearhead and Go Cars to buy new smartphones to replace the PDAs they currently use in their private hire vehicles.

But they have refused and called upon the firms to provide the equipment and meet the costs.

A spokesman for the drivers said: "It's built up because the drivers have been mistreated for the past five years.

"There have been different issues before. They have always been asking for different monies and they are trying to bleed out the drivers and then out of nowhere they told us to buy our own equipment.

"There have been meetings about this over the past two months but at the end of it the drivers were not happy and they just struck. They are not budging."

Luton on Sunday made repeated attempts to contact the management of Go Cars

DEMONSTRATION: The drivers have spent the week demonstrating outside the Spearhead headquarters at Leagrave train station and Spearhead but were told they were unavailable.

Among those affected by the strikes have been patients at Luton & Dunstable Hospital, which has a contract with the firms.

Staff had to use their own mobile phones to call taxis and make alternative travel arrangements for patients who had been 'stranded or were in difficulty'.

A spokeswoman for the hospital said: "The recent taxi dispute in Luton did initially affect a few patients and visitors at the L&D and some hospital staff used their own mobile phones at reception areas to quickly call taxis to assist those who had been stranded or were in difficulty.

"We have been able to make alternative travel arrangements so that our patients are not inconvenienced."

A resident said: "When you are paying for a service and you are getting it delayed then it's not good."

Airport sold in £433m deal with Spanish firm

BY CARL MUNGAZI

carl.mungazi@lutononsunday.co.uk

AIRPORT operator Abertis has sold its stake in Luton Airport in a deal worth £433million.

TBI, a company owned by Spanish firms Abertis (90 per cent) and Aena Internacional (10 per cent), has agreed to sell the company holding the concession for London Luton Airport to a consortium formed by Aena (51 per cent) and AXA Private Equity (49 per cent).

The deal is still subject to authorisation by the competition authorities, Luton Borough Council – which is the contracting authority – and the Spanish Board of Ministers.

The airport, which recently celebrated its 75th anniversary, has been part of Abertis' portfolio since 2005, when the company and Aena Internacional bought the British operator TBI.

Earlier this year, Luton on Sunday reported Abertis had appointed two banking firms to undertake a strategic review of its assets, which include a worldwide portfolio of airports, as part of the

SOLD: News of the sale of Luton Airport comes a fortnight after it held its 75th anniversary celebrations at the terminal

Spanish company's plan to shift its focus to its toll road and telecommunications businesses.

At the time a spokesperson for Abertis admitted it was in talks with Aena, but was also considering other proposals.

Following the deal, Jose Manuel Vargas, the executive chairman for Aena, said: "We aim to substantially build up London Luton in consultation with all its stakeholders."

Luton council said: "We will be working with Aena and AXA to ensure a smooth transition in the transferring of responsibility for the operation of London Luton Airport which will need to deliver an investment programme for the asset under the terms of the existing concession agreement."

It is not expected the change in operator will affect plans to increase passenger capacity at the airport from 9.8million a year to 18million.

Rise in e-crimes 'puts kids at risk'

BY RUPERT MARQUAND
editor@lutononsunday.co.uk

A PROFESSOR has said children are at 'significant risk of e-crime' after the publication of a government report.

Carsten Maple, the University of Bedfordshire's pro vice-chancellor for research and enterprise, responded this week to findings by the Home Affairs Select Committee which identified a stark rise in e-crime.

Prof Maple, who is a recognised figurehead on research into predatory online behaviour and a director of the National Centre of Cyberstalking Research, said the Government's policy on combating threats to the safety of children online are 'not enough', 'potentially dangerous' and 'out of touch'. He said: "There is no doubt that there has been a significant increase in e-crime."

"The recent cuts by the coalition government for institutes like the Child Exploitation and Online Protection Centre (CEOP) are detrimental to the safety of children online and developing systems to ensure security for the vulnerable online."

CONCERNED: Professor Carsten Maple has warned of the increased risk children are facing from e-crime

The computer security expert added: "Some crimes are solely conducted through electronic means, but many, many others are facilitated at least in part by electronic information."

"There has been an increase in funding generally to combat e-crime, but some areas are facing significant cuts, such as CEOP."

"Even with an increase in funding it is tiny in comparison to the massive rise in electronic crime – much of which remains unreported."

The Home Affairs Select Committee report found that the UK must do more to stop e-crime or risk 'losing the fight'.

Measures have been suggested, including a cyber-espionage team and a mandatory code of conduct for removal of indecent material.

Cycling champion retains her titles

BY CARL MUNGAZI
carl.mungazi@lutononsunday.co.uk

DOUBLE world transplant cycling champion Otilie Quince has successfully defended her world titles in South Africa.

The sports therapist clinched gold in the 5km time trial and 20km road race in Durban this week at the World Transplant Games.

It was a repeat of her victories at the last world games in Gothenburg, Sweden, in 2011.

Otilie had a life-saving kidney transplant in August 2007, but has since battled back to become the current double British, double European and double world transplant cycling champion in the 5km time trial and the 20km road race events.

The 31-year-old was more than 90 seconds ahead of the rest of the field in 5km trial, with a time of 8:45, and 33 seconds in front of her nearest rival in the 20km race, with a time of 39:18.

After the result she tweeted a picture of her medals and wrote: "Really really chuffed with this! My training's paid off."

GOLDEN GIRL: Otilie said her family had helped her remain focused on her training and motivated during the last two years

She also praised her new kidney – which she has named Poppet – that was donated by her mum Lesley when she became ill.

She also tweeted: "Poppet did me proud today...great race, I felt really strong."

Otilie said: "I'm really pleased at how well I performed in both races. The time trial was very tough with a strong head wind out on the first main drag in practice and training was much calmer so it was hard to know how well I'd performed after, but once the results came in I was very chuffed with how well I'd performed against the rest of the women. "My aim was to be the fastest in the world and get the scratch time, which I did. Tough training with both my club CC Luton and team GB Tx Cycling has definitely paid dividends."

She added her achievements had not really 'sunk in' yet.

Wednesday-Saturday

BREATHE in...and out. Breathe in...and out. And stret-t-t-tch. Sorry, I can't stop; I'm in training.

I am currently preparing for a Shakespeare marathon. Okay, no running is called for but a great deal of sitting is required; nine hours of it in fact, with just a few breaks for refreshment, leg-stretching and the loo.

Shakespeare didn't intend it to be so. He quilled three separate plays that just happen to follow, chronologically, through a period of brutal civil war.

Graham Butler as Henry VI

If you've been watching the current BBC TV adaptation of Philippa Gregory's The White Queen, you'll have already got an idea of the fall-out that was left after the House of York went head to head with the House of Lancaster. It all got very messy and roses, that quintessential English flower, have never caused so much of a drama before or since.

But drama is what this Shakespeareathon is all about.

Directed by Nick Bagnall, with Graham Butler as Henry VI, these Shakespeare's Globe productions are currently on tour under their original titles – Harry the Sixth, The Houses of York and Lancaster and The True Tragedy of the Duke of York.

And while some folk may opt for a pick 'n' mix selection – a little touch of Harry in the night here – a Yorkie bar in the matinee there – it is possible to see all three shows, one after the other, starting at 12.30pm, on Saturday.

Excuse me while I stop for a moment to jog round the office and pump some iron in readiness for the challenge.

But if the audience needs to prepare for it then the actors need to be super fit.

Between the 14 of them, they play upwards of 150 characters. And they supply the soundtrack of trumpet and drums.

Now I need to get back to doing a few press-ups or I'll never be ready to throw myself into the fray when the time comes.

Judy Riley

Lace your football boots and take on the Luton legends

FAMILY FUN DAY

Leagrave Common, Sundon Park
Saturday, August 31, 12pm-7pm

THE third annual family fun day hosted by community arts winner NINE RED Presents (CIC) takes place at the end of this month and everyone is invited.

ParkFest 4 AVS is a party designed by victims of abuse from the Sundon Park area to tighten community bonds and bring public attention to their cause; enabling participants to break free from social phobia and isolation and encouraging others in their situation to get the support they need.

It's going to be a day filled with music, sports and cultural arts activities for the entire community.

And as part of the Community Games initiative inspired by the London 2012 Olympic and Paralympic Games, one of the highlights of the day will be the opportunity to play against Luton Town F.C. 'Legends' in a five-a-side football tournament.

There will also be a performance and workshop by Paralympic ceremonies performers Paul Wilshaw and Debra Knight, the 2012 Community Awards Overall Winner.

The Mayor of Luton, Cllr Sheila Roden, will officially open the event and there will be something for everyone to enjoy.

The fun day is free to attend, but it will cost £10 to enter a team into the football tournament.

Something for everyone

PREVIEW

The Grove Theatre
This autumn

THE Grove Theatre's latest season is packed with music, mystery and comedy madness.

Autumn 2013 features a wide range of professional productions, alongside some lively community shows.

Children and young adults will be hitting the stage when the theatre launches its new performing arts school, Grove Academy.

Film animation will also play a big role as Despicable Me 2, Monsters University, The Smurfs 2 and Planes take to the cinema screen.

There promises to be something to impress everyone this film season, whether you're looking for action, laughter or the return of superheroes with the likes of Kick-Ass 2.

If you fancy going back in time, why not try something like Thank You for the Music, Pop-Up Bowie, The Sensational 60s Experience, Hats Off To Led Zeppelin or Supersonic 70s.

The line-up for the later part of the year should tickle your sides as the Grove enters a world of comedy.

Jack Dee (pictured) will make a return, followed by Alan Davies with Life Is Pain and Reginald D Hunter with In the Midst of Crackers.

You may recognise their faces from the likes of QI, Live at the Apollo and Have I Got News For You.

Drama lovers can also look forward to Ghosts by Henrik Ibsen, which takes audiences on a dark and thought-provoking journey, shedding new light over 19th century Norwegian society.

And The UK Touring Theatre will present Miss Julie, written by August Strindberg, in October.

Massive US films finally reach the UK

OUR resident film expert Gavin Miller previews the latest blockbuster movie releases.

THE HEAT (15): After Identity Thief and The Hangover: Part III, Bridesmaids' breakout star Melissa McCarthy seems to be in every comedy going.

And there is already talk of a sequel after this was a massive hit Stateside, as McCarthy stars as a loose-cannon Boston cop who teams up with Sandra Bullock's by-the-book FBI agent to track down a drug lord.

THE CONJURING (15): Talking of films that have been massive hits in the States, this critically-lauded horror from the director of Saw took in more than $40million in its opening weekend last month.

Patrick Wilson (Watchmen) and Vera Farmiga (TV series Bates Motel) star as paranormal investigators trying to help a family terrorised by a dark presence in their farmhouse.

Both films are now showing at Cineworld in Luton.

Switched on and ready for Wicked radio

RADIO

Stage Door
Online Station

LAST year, almost 14million people saw a show in London's West End and then came out of the theatre humming songs from whichever musical they'd just seen.

In a recession, when belts are being tightened, audiences love the feel-good factor that comes from the best of the genre.

So it's a funny thing that there's no radio station dedicated to musical theatre. Until now that is.

Stage Door, an online radio station for fans of musical theatre will be going live 24/7 in the autumn.

Bedfordshire born and bred Louise Dearman (pictured), currently starring as Elphaba in Wicked, is really looking forward to the launch. As one of Stage Door's regular presenters she will be doing two of the things she loves best – chatting and listening to music.

"What could be better?" she said.

"I'll be doing my first stint as a radio jock in November or December when I leave the cast of Wicked.

"I've been dabbling in radio doing jingles for Heart and Capital radio stations so it's a very exciting next step.

"I'm definitely not a morning person so it'll be a late afternoon shift for me. I want to play different types of music. I love Guys and Dolls but Rent and brand new musical, Once, are amazing."

But this isn't just a passive experience for fans of musical theatre.

Listeners can make a pledge of anything between £5 and £5,000 as part of an Indiegogo campaign to raise £145,000.

Benefits in return range from a signed photo to the chance to co-present a programme.

■ For more information go to www.indiegogo.com and search for Stage Door.

THE REAL THING

The Stables, Milton Keynes
September 14, 8pm

LIVERPUDLIAN soul group The Real Thing are set to perform a series of shows throughout the UK in 2013 to mark their 40 years in the business.

With more than three million selling hit singles to their name, the three original vocalists, Chris and Eddie Amoo and Dave Smith return for these concerts featuring their hits and soul and funk classics.

The Real Thing became the UK's best-selling black group of the late 70s with a run of hits that began in 1976 and continued for a decade.

They became the third biggest selling band in the UK in 1986 with the remixed versions of their tracks You to Me Are Everything and Can't Get By Without You, both hits for the band originally 10 years earlier.

The journalist, author and founder of Mojo, Paul Du Noyer, credits them alongside Deaf School with restoring 'Liverpool's musical reputation in the 1970s' with their huge success.

Since the band have been together they have released four studio albums, 24 singles, one live album and three compilations.

You to Me Are Everything and Can't Get By Without You have also made the Guinness Book of Records Millennium top 100 best selling UK records of all time.

Their story begins in 1962 with Eddy Amoo and his a cappella group, The Chants.

A chance meeting with Paul McCartney led to the band being invited to audition for The Beatles at the Cavern Club in Liverpool.

Impressed by their sound, The Beatles then rehearsed four songs with them and asked them to perform with them that evening where they made their official live debut, providing the musical backing.

Tickets for the show cost £23.50. To book call 01908 280800.

A night full of good music and laughter

MUSIC

The Alban Arena, St Albans
Tuesday, October 15, 7.30pm

ALEXANDER Armstrong, fresh from his starring role in ITV's Your Face Looks Familiar, celebrates his love of music and great songs in this new stage show.

The comedian, actor and presenter, introduces us to the songs he loves, from jazz standards and rock classics to some lesser-known pop delights.

Armstrong's baritone, along with his versatile band, breathe life into a wonderfully diverse range of songs from Louis Jordan's Is You Is Or Is You Ain't My Baby, to Spandau Ballet's True and Cyndi Lauper's Girls Just Wanna Have Fun.

Speaking about the show, Alexander said: "I've never done anything like this before but I am so looking forward to heading out on the road with this extraordinary band of musicians, and to meeting the people who come along.

"I wonder if they'll be Pointless fans, comedy fans or – strange to say – music fans.

"Certainly there'll be something for everyone in the evening."

The band consists of his music director Harry on the piano, wind player Simon Bates, Van Morrison's drummer Jeff Lardner and Jools Holland's bassist Dave Swift.

The set will feature a collection of hand-picked songs in new arrangements, with Armstrong's self-deprecating humour sandwiched in between.

It should be a night of good music, laughter and fun.

Tickets cost £22.50 and you can make your booking by calling the box office on 01727 844 488.

OPEN FOR ACTION

The Vauxhall Cascada looks to have virtually all the ingredients to guarantee success at the affordable end of the executive convertible segment. It not only undercuts rival models from Audi, BMW and Mercedes substantially on price as you'd expect but it also provides what is, in many ways, a better all-round package into the bargain, one that includes more rear seat legroom and extra equipment.

It certainly does itself no harm by getting the looks right. A large convertible lends itself to a low sleek look, but not all four seat convertibles ultimately escape the dumpster look. The Vauxhall thankfully does. At 4697mm long and 1840mm wide (excluding mirrors), the Cascada is a big. It's bigger than an Audi A5 cabriolet, let alone anything in the Peugeot 308 or Ford Focus convertible class. With the top down, it has a very clean profile with no roof-top cover or visible roll-over protection disturbing the car's silhouette aft of the steeply-raked A-pillar. It's also elegantly proportioned when the hood's up, thanks to a nicely contoured hood shape and a sharply raked rear screen. The fabric roof can be specified in one of three colours, which can be coordinated with one of ten body colours.

The driving dynamics meanwhile are taken care of by HiPerStrut suspension and Flex-Ride adaptive chassis control, plus there's a wide range of engines including a 140PS 1.4-litre turbocharged petrol unit, a new 170PS 1.6 SIDI Turbo ECOTEC petrol powerplant and a 165PS 2.0 CDTi diesel. If all that's not enough, then it's hard to see what more the Griffin brand can do to win the hearts and minds of convertible buyers.

County's ladies pick up victory

THE Bedfordshire Ladies county cricket team were victorious at the ECB County Twenty20 cup competition at Mildenhall.

Three counties took part and Beds came out on top ahead of sides representing Norfolk and Cambridgeshire.

"It was good to see everything we had practiced at training put into a game situation and to come out as champions was amazing," said Bedfordshire captain Katie Metcalfe.

"We have a range of abilities within the squad and also a range of ages – but we all worked together as a team.

"I was very proud on the day as the girls have come a long way and put in a lot of hard work."

After Norfolk saw off Cambs by six wickets in the tournament's opening contest, Beds then turned the tables on the victors by defeating them off in their first game.

Norfolk posted 119-3 which left Beds needing a run a ball to win and they reached the target for the loss of just three wickets.

In the second game with Cambridgeshire, Beds again fielded first and restricted their opponents to 87-7 from their 20 overs – Anisha Thind taking 4-5. In reply, Beds made their way to 88-4 to win by six wickets and reach the final against Norfolk.

Beds were asked to field and some fine work restricted Norfolk to 77-7 – a total which was comfortably passed with just two wickets falling.

Seniors are second

BEDFORDSHIRE Seniors were runners-up in the ECB over-50 Group Two competition after a successful campaign.

After finishing on the same number of points as Suffolk and Huntingdonshire, they were placed in second position on run rate behind the former, who they saw off in the match between the two by the narrow margin of just one run.

The team had the best batsman in the whole competition in the group matches in the form of Luton Town & Indians cricket club player Jeremy Page, who scored 633 runs at an average of 126.6 with four centuries. His top score was 155 not out.

I have to go faster says sprinter Deji

ATHLETICS

BY DAN PALMER

dan.palmer@lsnmedia.co.uk

DEJI Tobais admitted he must speed up – and fast – if he's to reach next year's Commonwealth Games and European Championships, after a mixed outing at the Sainsbury's Anniversary Games.

The 21-year-old Luton athlete first clocked 10.30seconds to cross home in fourth in an all-British 100m, behind Adam Gemili, Harry Aikines-Aryeetey and Mark Lewis-Francis.

And he featured the following day as part of a second-string British 4x100m relay quartet, which finished fifth at the Olympic Stadium, after an all too familiar mix-up saw the first team fail to get the baton round.

He will soon head to Moscow for his first taste of a senior World Championships as part of an eight-strong British 4x100m relay squad but Tobais, a member of Bedford and County AC, is not getting carried away.

"It's going to be tough because the British sprinters have stepped up a little bit this year," he said. "There's a good crop of young sprinters coming through so it won't be easy going into the Europeans or the Commonwealths in Glasgow.

"I'd like to think I've done enough for Moscow. "Obviously I want to run a little bit faster but I'm fairly confident in the team as a whole anyway.

"Whether or not I get to run at Moscow I don't care, as long as I'm there just soaking in the atmosphere at the World Championships. It's just about learning from the experience.

"Part of my eye is on Glasgow and Zurich for the Europeans next year, but I want to focus on Moscow for now. I'm looking forward to another hard year, another soggy, wet winter and then going from there."

Still not expecting any players to leave despite Gray link

FOOTBALL

LUTON Town boss John Still is unconcerned about speculation linking Andre Gray to Peterborough United after Posh boss Darren Ferguson was spotted in the stands at Kenilworth Road last week.

Striker Gray has been tipped to move to London Road – and the League One club's Director of Football Barry Fry has also been seen at Hatters games so far this pre-season.

"You'll have to ask Darren Ferguson," said Still when asked about the link after the 3-0 victory over League Two outfit Dagenham & Redbridge.

"When you have people watching your players I think it's a compliment to the Football Club.

"I've come here from a club [Dagenham & Redbridge] where we sold players regularly.

"I was at a club where we probably had to sell and maybe we don't have to sell here."

Still added that he didn't foresee any departures and Posh chairman Darragh MacAnthony said his club hadn't made a bid for the England C international when asked about the rumours on Twitter.

"I don't intend to lose anyone to be honest," said Still.

Meanwhile, Still has said he has no interest in bringing forward Moses Ashikodi to the club.

The striker was a surprise inclusion in an experimental Luton line-up which lost 2-0 to Dunstable Town last Thursday, but he has not appeared since and is not a target.

Still said that the former Rangers man had played at Dunstable simply to help out some of the younger Hatters and would not be making a more permanent move to Kenilworth Road.

"With Moses, we've not been able to use Alex Wall for a little bit and I didn't want to keep going with Jon Shaw and Mark Cullen," he said. "We had a couple of young lads [at Dunstable] and I know Moses, so I said 'just come and do a bit of training, have a game or two' – just to help the youngsters out really. But there was nothing more than that." Luton enjoyed pre-season friendly wins at Maidstone United (2-0) and Histon (1-0) this week.

Luton v Arsenal
XI - report and reaction online

FOOTBALL

BY DAN PALMER
dan.palmer@lsnmedia.co.uk

JOHN Still is close to knowing what Luton Town side will start the season against Southport on Saturday – but players still have the opportunity to work their way into his plans.

Yesterday's friendly with an Arsenal XI at Kenilworth Road was the ninth warm-up match of a lengthy pre-season and Still – who is preparing for his first full campaign in the Hatters hot-seat – is starting to piece together in his mind the tactics for when the real action begins.

"I'm pretty close to where I think we'll be," said Still.

"There are players who I'm not sure about who have a chance to push on their claims really.

"I'm really open minded about that because what I've seen so far, next week I may not see, and I may see something in somebody else.

"So from that point of view the door is still wide open but obviously I'm formulating a plan."

Still's side have one remaining friendly – away at Ryman League Division One North out-fit Thurrock tomorrow – before the big kick-off at Haig Avenue.

One player who has impressed the boss so far is defender Alex Lacey, who was not at Kenilworth Road when Still arrived at the club in February due to a loan spell at Conference South side Eastleigh.

The 20-year-old can expect to not be sent out to another side this season though with a spot in the starting 11 a very real possibility.

"Sometimes you have to be brave enough to put the young ones in," said Still when asked about Lacey.

"I didn't really know him when I came here, he was out on loan, but once we started training I thought 'he's got something'.

"There are a lot of things he can't do but at the moment what he can do is pretty good.

"We need to work on the things he can't do. I'm pleased for him."
